Area residents voiced their pros and cons concerning landfills last Wednesday at a public hearing held by the 10-member Wayne County Solid Waste Management Planning Committee at the Wayne Intermediate School District Office Annex. The board included Wayne County Commissioner Milt Mack (top) and Canton Township Planning Director Jim Kosteva.

Wasting space Residents protest landfill plan

It must have seemed very ironic to residents of Huron Township that they had to trudge past a dumpster marked "BFI" as they entered the Wayne County Intermediate School District offices last Wednesday evening for the public hearing before the Wayne County Solid Waste Planning Committee.

Browning - Ferris Industries (BFI) is the company that has filed a lawsuit against Huron Township for payment in excess of $10 million for the township's part in fighting to keep them from building a landfill near I-275 and Sibley.

Approximately 150 citizens from Huron, Westland, Canton, Belleville and as far away as St. Clair Shores filled the annex building for the meeting, which lasted nearly four hours, as person after person took to the podium to voice their opinion on proposed landfills and the Wayne County Solid Waste Management Plan. The plan needs to be approved by two-thirds of the 43 communities in Wayne County and the Department of Natural Resources.

Most of the controversy stemmed from the fact that many landfills have been added to the plan after the "final" deadline. One speaker explained it by saying that "if landfills are continually admitted into the plan after they missed the filing date to be included, they'll have no incentive to comply with (the communities), and the board will lose its power of regulation."

Many of those who spoke mentioned that alternate methods of waste disposal, such as incineration, should be looked into more. It was suggested that incineration, which is often linked with air pollution in many people's minds, has many new technological developments at its disposal which don't make that as critical a factor as it once was.

Dick Levitt, a representative of private industry, claimed that incineration is more of a long-term answer than is landfills and dumps, which he said would "come back to haunt future generations."

According to Georgia Gramlich of Belleville, residents should protest the landfills, because "the companies don't seem to care about the area or the people."

Speaking of the controversial dumpsite in Van Buren, Gramlich said "that dump started out as strictly a solid refuse dump, and it turned into a toxic one before we knew it. We weren't notified or aware that toxic chemicals were being dumped there until some residents noticed a horrible smell coming from the area. That's when we knew it wasn't just garbage."

"They just keep on," said Gramlich, "Wayne and Michigan Disposal, who own the dump, are trying now to lower the flash-point (the temperature at which it will catch fire) and raise the toxicity level to include four new chemicals."

Celia Lamb, a resident of Huron Township, told the gathering that she moved there "from Inkster to get away from the rats, roaches and things. Now, I look at what they want to do and I think my God, why? What did we do?"

Mike Patrick, a representative from the Airlines Pilots Association that has condemned the proposed dumpsite just 10,000 feet from the runway at Metropolitan Airport told the board that they "had better pay attention to them. These people aren't paper pushers — they're up there in the air day after day, and they know what bird strikes can do."

A bird strike occurs when there is a bird/plane collision or an ingestion of a bird into an engine. It is supposed that a landfill near the runway would attract birds for feeding purposes and increase the danger to flights coming and leaving the airport.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) claims that more than 150 deaths have occurred due to bird strikes. They report that during a seven-month period in 1982 there were eight bird strikes at Metro Airport.

Patrick also noted that in many cases where danger is averted, bird strikes go unreported.

Romulus, which would sit right next to the proposed landfill in Huron Township, passed a resolution two years ago in support of the township and its opposition to the landfill.

Vickie Lyons, president of the Huron Valley Citizens Association suggested to the committee that the penalties levied against the industry for violations is too low. It is currently a "fine of not less than $300 nor more than $1,000."

"That's nothing more than a pat on the wrist to these large companies," Lyons said.

Lyons also took the BFI spokesperson to task for remarks made the previous night at a Detroit public hearing before the same board.

"He said that since Huron is an agricultural township, there are already birds there that make the flights hazardous. Well, we were farming around here even before there was a Metro Airport. That's no reason to increase the danger not only to the communities around here, but to every potential airlines customer."

Mahalak won't make re-election bid

By ROSE MARY REIZ
ANP Staff Writer

Michigan State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus), announced last week that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

"I will step aside to let someone else run," said Mahalak, a 20-year member of the House of Representatives and former Romulus judge. His reapportioned district includes the cities of Wayne, Romulus and Belleville, Van Buren Township and a portion of Canton Township.

Mahalak, 62, suffered a heart attack earlier this month, but said that health is only one consideration in his decision not to seek re-election to the 37th House District seat.

"Although I will have to change my life style, doctors say I can go back to work in six weeks and that after I'm done with my therapy, I'll feel better than I have in years."

"My idea not to run again is something I've been talking over ably a local one."

Mahalak's heart attack came after a grueling weekend session in Lansing, "the first time we worked a Saturday and Sunday in 20 years," he said.

"I've always been a hard worker and very outspoken," the representative said, "but the job was only a small part of this happening. I was inactive and wasn't eating right, either."

Mahalak was released from

"I'll finish out this year. By the second week of May, I'll be back in the House and voting. Later on I may run for another office, but probably a local one."

with my wife Dolly for a number of years now," Mahalak said.

"I'm as high in the House as I can go," he explained. "I'm at the peak of my career, and I haven't been defeated. The only way to go from here would be down."

Mahalak is a member of the House Appropriations Committee and chairs subcommittees on transportation, veterans and military affairs.

During his tenure in the House, he has introduced and co-sponsored thousands of bills, including those affecting veteran's benefits, landfill operations and transportation.

The representative said that although he has no definite plans for the future, he will finish out the year in the House.

"By the second week of May I'll be back in the House and voting," he said. "Later on I may run for another office—but probthe University of Michigan Hospital last week and plans to take part in a cardiac rehabilitation program at the hospital.

"I'll be exercising, working around my house, and working on my hobbies," he said. "I'll be busy. It's not my nature to sit around."

Mahalak said he has been approached by three candidates seeking his support, but that he has refused to endorse anyone.

The House veteran did offer some advice to would-be public servants.

"You have to love people and want to help them," he said. "You have to be able to talk to enemies and friends, those who love and hate you."

"It's hard for one person to change things," he added, "but there is a real power in pressure groups. I'd like to see more of them, whether they are long-

Edwards' promotion announced

The appointment of Belleville resident Jay A. Edwards, Jr., as personnel director at the Chevrolet Livonia Plant has been announced by Helmuth H. Major, plant manager.

Edwards, who has been administrator of policy administration and employee relations for the General Motors Personnel Administration and Development (PAD) Staff since March 1980, succeeds Abner J. Tansil. Tansil was named personnel director at Chevrolet Gear and Axle Plant in Detroit.

A native of East Detroit, Edwards received a bachelor's degree in communications from Wayne State University in 1963. He was awarded a master's degree in industrial counseling from Wayne in 1968.

Edwards joined General Motors in 1966 and was assigned to its Education and Training Department. In 1969, he went to Saginaw on assignment with GM Organizational Development, working on a Quality of Work Life project with the University of Michigan Institute for Social Research.

The following year he moved to the Marketing Educational Services Section in Flint and held various positions there. He was assistant director of operations for International Dealer Development when he was transferred to the PAD staff.

Edwards and his wife, Corinne, live on East Huron River Drive.

The Romulus High School Children's Center, which serves as the training facility for high school students enrolled in Child Care Classes, will begin taking applications for the fall 1984-85 class Monday, April 30.

Parents interested in enrolling children should call the Center at 941-2170, ext. 68, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. weekdays. Early callers will be given priority in filling the class.

Children must be at least three years old by Jan. 1 to qualify for the pre-school program which is available to Romulus residents only.

The program is in session Monday through Thursday for half-day sessions from October through May. Parents must provide transportation and pay a $20 monthly tuition.

The center provides for the developmental needs of children in a nursery school setting. Parents interested in observing the center or gaining further information should call director Jan Haynes at the facility.

Wilhide nominated

Ernest Komyathy, who has served on the Romulus Police, Fire and Safety Commission for the past eight years, resigned from that position in a letter to Mayor Beverly McAnally, dated April 3.

In a letter to the council, McAnally requested their concurrence in the appointment of John Wilhide to fill in Komyathy's unexpired term, which runs until Feb. 13, 1985. Wilhide is a former Fire Chief for the city of Romulus.

Business Week set

Romulus has designated May 6-12 as Small Business Week, in honor of the role more than 14 million small businessmen and women play in the economy. The theme will be "Small Business Means Jobs."

ZONTA organizes

A branch of a women's organization, called ZONTA, has been formed in Romulus. The contact person to find out more about the group and when they meet is Martha Wensco at the Romulus Post Office.

Baumann is recovering

Councilman Barry Baumann is home from Annapolis Hospital following surgery on April 11 for removal of gallstones.

"I'm living happily ever after," joked Baumann from his home. "There's still pain but I'm doing OK."

"I received a ton of cards, flowers, phone calls, visitors, everything," Baumann explained. "The nurses kept teasing me, asking me if I was opening a flower shop!"

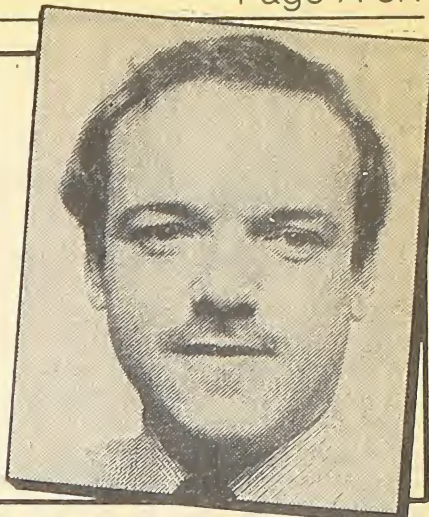

According to his doctor, Baumann is to "take it real easy for about two weeks."

"I'm really grateful for all the kindness everyone showed me during my 'rough two weeks'. It's great to be loved," he said.

And while Baumann is out, he is still receiving council packets and information to "keep up on everything that's going on."

The representative suggested that it's more a lack of knowledge than lack of scruples that gets most politicians into trouble.

"It's very easy to be swayed, if you don't understand your office," he said. "The law is specific and a safeguard of the public, but first you have to know what the law is."

"I've never allowed the position to rule me the way some have. Gracious living and flattery aren't that important to me. I've never wanted people to call me Representative Mahalak. I'm just Ed."

Not much to look at now

Romulus will finally be getting a new post office, after years of depending on the city of Taylor for mail sorting and delivery. Construction on a Romulus Post Office is scheduled to begin in early summer. The site chosen is that of an old foundry, located at 36115 Goddard. The current occupants of the building have agreed to vacate the premises by May 18 so that construction can begin.

Not a Good Friday

Last Friday (April 20) evening at approximately 10:10 p.m. a 35-year-old Garden City woman was held up at gunpoint and robbed, after exiting her automobile in a parking lot in the 6000 block of Middlebelt.

According to police, a thief armed with a blue-steel handgun took the woman's purse, which contained various identification cards, credit cards and $20 cash.

The man, described as a black male, about 30 years of age, with short hair and a well-trimmed beard and mustache, then fled south on foot.

Romulus police would like anyone with information on the matter to contact them.

Violent crime declines

The number of armed robberies in Romulus was down significantly during the month of March, according to the police department's monthly activity report. Of the 13 armed robberies in the city this year, only one happened last month.

The report listed significant arrests in the city as follows: three for receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, three for felonious assault, two for assault and battery, one for assault and battery of a police officer, one for criminal sexual conduct and one for assault with intent to murder.

More than half of the 23 cases of fraudulent activity reported happened in March though, and charges of felonious assault and larcenies under $100 were also up.

On a brighter note, more than half of the 34 automobiles stolen in March were recovered, which is a better-than-average record.

PLUMBING DOESN'T WORK — PLUMBER SENDS BILL ANYWAY!!!

Dear Letter Writer:

I am so furious. I feel like I really got taken by my plumber. He came to my house to fix my problem and left me with no water. Then he sent me a bill for $120.50 for labor and parts. Because I had no water, I had to go the entire weekend without using my kitchen sink. I just really feel like he "took me to the cleaners," pardon the pun. I want to pay his bill, but not all of it because he didn't do all the work he said he did. Could you help me write a letter so that he will know how upset I am and also so that I don't have to pay the entire amount which he didn't earn.

Sincerely, CW

Dear Plumber:

Enclosed please find my check in the amount of $79.50 in FULL PAYMENT of your invoice.

On Feb. 17, 1984, your assistant was in my home for less than one hour and replaced my kitchen sink faucet. Upon completion of the work, I left my home (at the exact same time as your assistant). Thus, I did not check his work. In fact, I did not even turn the water on to assure myself that it was running.

Upon my arrival home later in the evening, I discovered that I had no water running out of the faucet and, therefore, was unable to use the sink at all. My daughter had put some refuse in the sink, however, as there was no water, I was unable to run my garbage disposal to dispose of the waste. I immediately began calling your place of business and left a message with your service.

The entire weekend passed, and I was without water in my kitchen sink. The entire weekend passed, and I received no return telephone call from you.

On Monday afternoon at approximately 2:30, your assistant arrived at my home and made the adjustment needed to provide me with water. Inasmuch as I was not contacted for an appointment, my young daughter was in the house alone with your assistant. I would have preferred to have been able to set an appointment so that I could have been present during the repair.

In any event, I subsequently received a bill for "unblock disposal." This is ludicrous as my disposal was, at no time, blocked. My only problem was a lack of water after the first repair.

As your calculations will bear out, I have adjusted your bill to reflect one hour of labor.

Sincerely, CW

RESOLUTION: As of this date, CW has heard nothing from her plumber. He has cashed her check, which indicates that he has accepted the payment she rendered. Good public relations on the plumber's part would have been to call CW and talk it out with her. Had he done this, CW probably would have done business with him in the future. Because of the lack of communication from the plumber, CW will go elsewhere the next time she has trouble.

I move that the Huron Township Board adopt the following findings and, based upon those findings, deny the Lyon Development Company application for Special Condition use Permit under Huron Township Ordinance No. 20, as amended, known as the Zoning Ordinance, for the following reasons:

1. Section 43.51.05 of Ordinance No. 20, as amended, provides, "Before the Board of Appeals issues a Permit, the Township Board shall find that the granting of said permit shall not be injurious to the public health, safety and welfare of the Township and its residents; there has been compliance with all the requirements and standards of this Ordinance, and the other applicable Township Ordinances, standards and regulations; the proposed operation will not create an unreasonable hazard, annoyance or inconvenience to the owners or occupants of nearby property; will not significantly change the character of the neighborhood or unreasonably reduce the value of nearby property; and will not create any significant obstacle to the implementation of the Zoning Plan as evidenced by this Ordinance and the Master Plan of the Township."

The Township Board finds that the Lyon Development Company has failed to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the construction and operation of the proposed sanitary landfill in accordance with the proposal contained in the application meets the requirements of Section 43.51.05 of the Township Zoning Ordinance.

A. The Township Board finds that the granting of the Permit may be injurious to the public health, safety and welfare of the Township and its residents for all of the reasons stated in the findings and recommendations contained in the minutes of the Huron Township Planning Commission meeting of February 21, 1984, which are adopted as findings by this Township Board, and for all of the reasons stated in the sub-sections of this Motion which follow, all of which are incorporated herein by reference.

B. The Huron Township Board finds that there has not been compliance with all of the requirements and standards of the Zoning Ordinance, nor with the requirements of Huron Township Ordinance No. 81-3, the Soil Excavation and Landfill Regulatory Ordinance, nor with the requirements of the standards and regulations laid out in the Township Master Use Plan, for the reasons stated in the findings and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of the February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

C. The Huron Township Board finds that the proposed operation will create an unreasonable hazard, annoyance and inconvenience to the owners or occupants of nearby property, for the reasons stated in the minutes and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

D. The Huron Township Board finds that the proposed operation will significantly change the character of the neighborhood and unreasonably reduce the value of nearby property, for the reasons stated in the minutes and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

E. The Huron Township Board finds that the proposed operation will create a significant obstacle to the implementation of the Zoning Plan as evidenced by this Ordinance and the Master Plan of the Township for the reasons stated in the minutes and recommendations of the Huron Township Planning Commission adopted at its meeting of February 21, 1984, which are hereby adopted as findings by this Board and incorporated herein by reference as though set forth fully herein.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By John Brimble

Marinade for chicken: 1/4 cup soy sauce, 3 Tbs. dry sherry, 2 Tbs. oil, 2 Tbs. orange marmalade, 1 Tbs. honey, 1 1/2 tsp. sesame oil, and minced garlic and hot pepper sauce to taste. Bake chicken pieces, topped with crumbs, about half an hour at 375°.

Hurray for red peppers. They have twice as much vitamin C as green ones. They taste sweeter. And they look so cheerful on the plate.

Buttercream frosting freezes well. Someday when you're feeling creative, pipe out some flowers, stars, and other fantasies. Freeze on foil sheet; when they harden, store in single layer in airtight container.

Most attractive salad: fresh greens highlighted with wedges of papaya and avocado. Make dressing with lime juice for a fresh taste.

Ordinary canned peaches take on glamour when you bake them with a topping of 1/2 cup apricot jam, 1/2 cup cream sherry or apricot brandy, and 1 Tbs. lemon juice. Sprinkle with toasted sliced almonds and bake 15 minutes at 350°.

Carey earns MTA endorsement

At its April 12 meeting in Lansing, the Michigan Townships Association (MTA) Board of Directors "wholeheartedly endorsed" fellow director Mary Lou Carey's candidacy for 21st District State Representative. A resolution expressing association's support for Carey was adopted unanimously.

Carey is currently MTA secretary and will presumably move up the ladder towards the group Presidency if she remains on the Association Board. Carey has been Huron Township clerk for 12 years. She has been extremely active in the MTA and in the Wayne County Clerks Association for several years.

"When I'm elected as 21st District State Representative, townships will have another voice in Lansing," claimed Carey in acknowledging the endorsement. "I accepted this challenge with mixed feelings, because I've thoroughly enjoyed my work in township government and with the MTA."

In addition to the MTA endorsement, Carey also received an endorsement and financial assistance from MTA-PAC, a political action committee established to assist township supporters in attaining state office. MTA-PAC is supported by donations.

The MTA provides lobbying and educational services to more than 99 percent of the state's 1,243 townships.

Politics, not racism

Three members of the Inkster City Council, who happen to have white skins, recently came under fire because they chose to "boycott" the annual Mayor-Council Ball.

One newspaper raked them and called them "racists" and the incident "racially motivated".

However, all of the facts were not in. In fact, upon closer examination, we believe that anyone who was wearing the same shoes would have done likewise.

Councilmen James Colleran and Patrick O'Neil and Mayor Betty Miller, who, after serving as Inkster's City Clerk for more than 15 years, stepped up to the top job by defeating incumbent William Daniels, refused to attend the program.

The program, by the way, is sponsored by the Democratic Club of Inkster.

The Democratic Club of Inkster in the November Election decided to support Mr. Colleran, Mr. O'Neil and Mrs. Miller's rivals. Funds raised from the annual Council-Mayor's Ball are placed in the kitty and later dispersed by the local Democrats to candidates they endorse.

A fourth member of council, Stephen Berry, who also happens to have white skin, chose to attend the ball. Berry did have political support from the local Dems.

We happen to agree with Mr. Colleran and Mr. O'Neil, who pointed out recently "that it would have been ludicrous for us to attend the function since we knew that the funds raised would have been used to defeat us."

We also agree with these gentlemen that the annual Council-Mayor's Ball should be taken out of the realm of politics. Would the local Dems sponsor the annual Ball if a Republican is elected as the city's mayor?

Why not offer the money raised from the ball to the Goodfellows, a recommendation that most residents and politicians are supporting?

Lenora Ware said it best, we believe, at the recent City Council meeting when she said: "There are white and black citizens of the City of Inkster who are working together to make our city something to be proud of. It is a known fact that white people need black people just like black people need white people.

"And, as Martin Luther King Jr. said: 'We can either stand together as men or fall together as fools.'" resulted in legislation permitting construction of bike paths along state highways and granting the Department of Transportation authority to set speed limits for passenger trains. He took pride in presenting the concept of high speed rail passenger service in the state.

Amen.

Mahalak will be remembered as a legislator who truly cared about his fellow man. No problem was too small for him to tackle if it meant assisting someone in need.

Now, following a heart attack, this popular legislator must change his lifestyle to include more rest and relaxation. Few are as deserving of some rest as Mahalak, who has fought "the good fight" successfully in the State House of Representatives.

Citizens in Romulus, Wayne, Belleville, Van Buren Township and Canton Township will miss his representation. All residents of Michigan will miss his dedication towards building a government for and of the people.

His successor will have a difficult act to follow.

Anatomy of a typo

Okay, that's it, I've had it! Those guys in composing have done it to me for the last time. Or maybe it was editorial.

Well, somebody did it. They allowed a typographical error to sneak through into my column last week. A sentence, as a result, didn't make sense. The line in question in my last effort was to have read, "Service should be an act of joy." It was not supposed to say, "Service should be an act of job." So while our puzzled readers, both of them, were home scratching their heads wondering what this guy was talking about, (an act of job?) I became frustrated, then angry and then philosophical.

I'm reminded of an old printers' analysis on which I cannot lay my hands, describing the cost of a comma (or in this case, a letter) being typed in error in a publication. In order to correct that one misplaced character, a team of people spent a great deal of time, energy and money.

Newspapers grind out written communication in unbelievable quantities to produce enough type to fill one weekly edition. There is a creeping disease that affects these "wordsmiths" after a time, and as deadline pressures increase. As professionals it is an absolute "no-no," but I've seen it happen to the best of them through the years. "Oh, let it go," someone will say. "Did you read all those corrections?" one staff member says to another under the heavy weight of the racing clock. "Close enough," is the reply, or "We don't have time, the messenger is waiting to leave with the page negatives to get to the printer."

By and large our staff, as well as those like Bob Moore, Debbie Hanson, Pam Haase, and so many others at PAK Printers, go on as the unsung heroes of our weekly vigil to bring news of your communities to you in a concise, timely, unbiased fashion with all the commas in the right places.

Folks, this ain't easy, but many work with dedication to do it better and better every week. As in any profession, there are good days and bad, good weeks and bad. But Dan Klimkosky cares and knows if he doesn't get to PAK Printers to pick up the negatives and get them to Jackson and on the press, people will not receive their papers on time and advertisers' messages to the buying public will be late.

Mike Jaissle in the camera room cares, too. He triple checks to see that all the negatives are clear and in focus and all are in the transport carrier for Jackson.

The typesetters, the proofreaders like Karen Prieskorn and Debbie Dutcher, the supervisors like Rich Oleszek and Gary Jordan and PAK owner Don Styles all care.

When there are errors, it is rarely because someone didn't care. Someone once said about this business of newspapering, "Just remember, this ain't no cathedral we're buildin' here — we've got deadlines to meet."

We, nevertheless, will continue to seek excellence for you each week, knowing that there will be times when we will fail. Someone else once said, "Doctors bury their mistakes and chefs cover theirs with mayonnaise. Ours are there each week for all to see."

Perhaps I'll forgive the error in my column last week. I hope you will forgive that and others of the past and future. It comes with the territory.

See you next week.

Cold response

To the editor:

An article appeared in your April 4 edition entitled "Dollars and Sense" that dealt with allegations of expense account padding by two Wayne-Westland Board of Education members, Fred Warmbier and Dave Moranty. My husband and I attended the board meeting of April 16 to voice our concern on this issue and were frankly surprised (shocked may be a better word) over the reception we received.

My husband spoke during the Citizens' Request regarding his belief that people elected to public office should be held accountable for the misuse of the school district's funds. His comments were critical of the two board members who are reported to have intentionally overstated travel expense vouchers.

Nothing my husband said seemed very controversial to us. We assumed that every taxpayer in the district expects (should I say demands) honesty from our elected officials. After the meeting, we're not so sure. We were told by members of the audience that we had no right to come and be critical of the two board members unless we were regular attendees to the meetings. It seemed that certain people there were more interested in finding out if we had a particular political allegiance than in finding out if a board member(s) had bilked the public.

Both Mr. Warmbier and Mr. Moranty talked to my husband and I outside in the hall to discuss the paper's allegations and invited us to review the entire board's expense accounts. While these board members were not particularly pleased with questions and comments we made, they conducted themselves as well as can be expected. This is more than we can say for some members of the audience.

It's no wonder that most people in the Wayne-Westland School District shy away from attending board meetings. What the taxpayers of this district (and the regular attendees to board meetings) should be concerned about is accountability of all board members, not just the elected officials they voted against.

Tribute to Rep. Mahalak

State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) has served his constituents in the 37th House District with distinction for 20 years. His decision not to seek re-election signals the end of 30 consecutive years in public office for Mahalak, who previously sat as a judge in Romulus.

During his term in the House he has been a member of numerous standing committees, including the powerful House Appropriations Committee and has introduced and co-sponsored numerous bills.

Mahalak's contributions are especially significant, however, in three areas: veterans' benefits, landfill operations and transportation.

Veterans across the state recognize Mahalak as a legislator who has been an influential force behind various laws that provide benefits for veterans, widows and families of veterans.

The man identified by his colorful bow ties also has sponsored two of the most innovative and effective bills for the licensing and regulation of solid waste disposal facilities. His interest in transportation has

Beauty and a 9-year-old

In terms of superficiality and pure exploitation, it's tough to beat a good, old fashioned beauty pageant.

Talent, poise and personality are what the judges look for ... forget about those bathing suits. That's why most beauty queens gain distinction due to their creative genius rather than mere physical attributes. Uh huh.

To top it off, some of these pageants have been exposed as fraudulent contests devised solely for raising big bucks through entry and sponsor fees. Often the pawns have been adolescents and their parents, overwhelmed by a chance in the spotlight.

Michele Jacks of Belleville is aware of the adverse publicity surrounding beauty pageants. She admits having been more than a bit skeptical when she received a letter last January inviting her nine-year-old daughter, Rachel, to enter the Miss Metro Detroit National Pre-Teen Pageant. According to the correspondence from the pageant director in Florida, Rachel's name had been placed into nomination by an anonymous admirer.

"At first I figured it was a bulk mail that went to everyone in Belleville," Mrs. Jacks said with a laugh. "I asked other parents about it but none of them had received anything. So I called the Better Business Bureau and found out that the Pre-Teen Pageant has been around since 1980 with no complaints on record."

After sending in the girl's photograph and background information, the Jacks' family was then informed that Rachel would be one of the finalists to compete July 6-7 at the Book Cadillac Hotel in Detroit. From there winners will head to the state finals in Grand Rapids and the national event later this year in Florida.

Rachel Jacks

"My cousin's daughter entered this pageant a couple years ago," Mrs. Jacks said after doing more research on the subject. "They thought it had been a good experience for their daughter. They told us that Rachel would get to meet new people and socialize with different kids her age.

"I'm convinced that this will be a positive experience, not a ripoff."

Rachel Jacks, a third-grader at St. Anthony's School in Belleville, is looking forward to the competition. Nearly an honor roll student, she has won plenty of medals and ribbons as a member of the Tiger Swim Club. Add her membership in Girl Scout Troop 211 and her volunteer efforts on behalf of the March of Dimes and one can see that Rachel is a very active youngster.

"She's outgoing, people like her," explained Mrs. Jacks. "When I first asked her if she wanted to enter the pageant, she gave a big smile and nodded. I told her that when others found out about it (pageant), some would be happy, some jealous and some would give her the cold shoulder. And that's just what happened.

"But she just keeps saying that she's going to do her best. Her sister Kimberly (5 years old) has given her nothing but encouragement and her father (Michael) is excited because all the fathers get to walk their daughters onto the stage ... he's looking forward to it."

Judging will encompass four categories — talent, poise/personality, interview and appearance. In the latter segment the girls will wear white tennis shoes, knee socks, blue shorts, a white blouse and red scarf.

For the privilege of competing for scholarships, trophies and other awards, contestants each will pay $175. Rachel's entry fee has been paid by sponsors Brown's Funeral Home, Adventure Travel, Sherm's Mobil, Sun Energy Systems and Papa's Ace Bar.

"We're approaching this with a positive attitude," Mrs. Jacks declared. "Rachel will learn something about winning and losing."

And, best of all, there won't be any bathing suits around. Or Bert Parks.

retardation in Wayne and the surrounding communities.

This relationship has proven to be a beneficial one, with the results of quality instruction accruing to the students. The supervisory personnel have always been attentive to our needs and requests while keeping a high profile in our facility, the Coil Center. The teachers have worked hard with the students and the students have responded well over the years.

The adverse publicity received by Wayne Westland Community Schools Adult/Continuing Education due to some questionable practices should in no way be allowed to overshadow the success and benefits of their program and similar adult education programs across the state.

Racism charge prompts rebuttal

To the Editor:

Since I was the one who brought the issue of the Mayor's Ball to the attention of the City Council, I feel that the statement I made must be clarified in view of the fact that the article regarding it in the 4/18/84 edition of the Ledger-Star completely missed the point being raised. I do not feel that this was intentional however.

My concern was about an article which had been printed in the 4/14/84 edition of the Michigan Chronicle, our leading Black newspaper, which stated that the Annual Mayor and Council Ball was "boycotted by Inkster's newly-elected White Mayor and the White Council members."

I was not being critical of the Mayor and Councilmen. My concern was that the article had appeared in a Black oriented newspaper and overtly implied that racism was the reason for the alleged boycott. I stated that the article, in my opinion, was one of the worst cases of "yellow journalism" I had ever encountered because of the unfounded racial overtones which it contained.

The Mayor and Councilmen did not boycott the Ball, they merely did not attend because they knew in front that they were not welcome. Had the Chronicle reporter been objective, neutral and interviewed both sides, another picture would have developed.

The Inkster Democratic Club did not support the Mayor and Councilmen who did not attend in the last election. Traditionally, the Mayor's Ball honored the newly elected Mayor. This year, for the first time in Inkster's history, two former Mayors were honored instead which was an outright public slap in the face of the newly elected Mayor of our city.

There was another former Black Mayor — why was he not honored also? The Mayor and Councilmen were not the only ones who did not attend the Ball. Many Black residents did not attend for the same reason as Mayor Miller and Councilmen O'Neil and Collieran. Also, many people who bought tickets, I am told, thought they were coming to the Inaugural Ball for the new Mayor!! They felt a sense of betrayal because the promotion was misleading.

The majority of Black and White residents of the city of Inkster have worked long and hard to overcome the racism which used to prevail here. Ten or twelve years ago, Michigan Avenue was the "Mason-Dixon" line of Inkster. Today, thanks to the effort of Black and White citizens working together, Inkster is one of the most truly integrated cities in the United States.

We intend to keep working to keep it that way. We deal in reality however, and realize that we cannot erase racism entirely, but we can stomp on its ugly head whenever it is raised.

We have dealt racism a mortal blow and we are steadily moving forward, BLACK and WHITE TOGETHER!! We don't need racism banging the gavel at our Council table any more.

The Sports Meridian

And the rains came

TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Rain may be a welcomed sight to farmers, but it's murderous for high school baseball.

And as each coach moaned and groaned about the elements last week, some of the local prep ball players made their annual trek to sunny Florida and Daytona Beach — where apparently the girls are ... and the boys.

Wayne Memorial baseball coach Jim Chronowski says he uses the 'trek' as an excellent indicator to determine whether this nation is in-and-out of an economic depression.

"When our ball club members ask if they can be excused to go on vacation, to Florida, that's when I know things are turning around," Chronowski said. "We haven't had anyone ask to go down there (to Florida) since 1976, and this year some of the kids expressed that they would like to travel there with their parents."

"My rule is that if they go with their parents, it's all right. However, any kid who takes off and skips practice to travel knows he's out of my line-up when he returns," Chronowski added.

Florida — at any price — who can afford it?

On another note, Belleville baseball coach Tom Fielder is inviting all of that high school's former baseball players back for an all-star alumni game.

"We're planning a little get together for April 28," Fielder said, "and hope to see our former players back here and in uniform."

Coach Fielder says that some of the school's former stars, including Larry Petrowski, an ex-all-league performer, Sam Villa, a pitcher-first baseman who is presently with Eastern Michigan's baseball club, and Greg Brinkeroff have accepted the invitational invitation to play.

"We would like to make this an annual game. A tradition," Fielder says, "and I know that there are a lot of former players from Belleville out there who would like to return and play against our present team."

And how about inviting Vitold Kaminskis back to coach the alumni?

Kaminskis managed the Tigers for over 25 years before he decided to hang it up.

And if you need an old ump, the Sports Meridian (more than an ump) would gladly accept the invitation.

Contact Fielder at 697-0633 if you're a former Belleville High baseball player and the body is willing.

Romulus 'hottest' area team

Coach Dennis Stoh knows just how Detroit Tiger manager Sparky Anderson must feel. Stoh's Eagles have won nine of their 10 games — just like the Tigers — this season. And Stoh is elated.

"You have to be proud of these kids," Stoh said. "They never quit on you and they'll give you 100 percent all the time. What else can a coach ask for?"

That "never-say-die" philosophy was personified on the field against Cherry Hill when the Eagles, down 5-0, rallied to a 6-5 victory in the first game of a doubleheader on Thursday. Romulus sweep both ends of the twin bill, winning the second game, 7-4.

"I'm really disappointed in our defense," said Cherry Hill skipper Ken Mientkiewicz. "The things that bother me the most is that we are committing throwing errors. After fielding the ball, we just throw it away."

Cherry Hill committed five miscues against Romulus in lowering their over-all record to 2-3 on the year. (The Spartans are 2-1 on the Tri-River Conference year, however.)

Dave Blevins, who has an untar-nished 2-0 record on the mound, picked up the 6-5 victory over the Spartans in the opener. He was tagged for eight hits, struck out five and walked one. The loser, Dave Kevnick, also went the distance, fanning five and walking none.

Cherry Hill grabbed a 1-0 lead off of Kevnick in the first inning when, with two-outs, Paul Oster singled and was chased to third thanks to Steve Radomski's base hit. Dan Sanchez also delivered a single, scoring the first run.

The Spartans made it 4-0 in the second as Kevnick led off with a walk, and, after Mike Sassee fanned, Rob Bryer singled, putting runners on first and second.

Then, Ken Farmer greeted Blevins' fastball solidly and hammered his second homer of the season, a three-run blast that appeared enough for the win. Oster's leadoff singled, stolen base and a single by Sanchez gave the Spartans a fifth inning and final run of the ballgame.

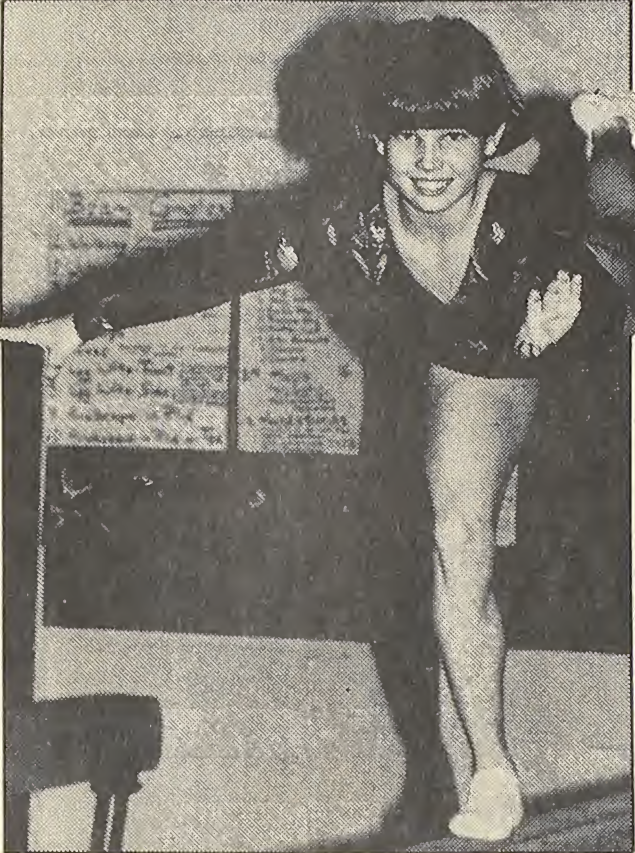

Romulus then went to work. In the bottom of the fifth, Sean Vernatt laced a two-run homer with Joe Atherton aboard to close the gap.

Golden outlook

Ten-year-old Wendy Minch has a goal in life ... to be a member of the 1988 U.S. Gymnastics Team that will compete in the Summer Olympics. It's a goal that appears attainable for the Westland youth who placed fifth in the state in Class 2 gymnastics competition recently. She placed second in the vault, third in floor exercise and fifth in the unparallel bars. Her finish in the state competition earned her a spot on the state divisional team, which will compete in a national regionals meet this weekend in Cleveland, Ohio.

Eagles setting record pace

Coach Dennis Stoh at Romulus High has nine good reasons to smile. That's the number of victories his team has won thus far this season. The Eagles have lost only one game.

"You know we won our first five a year ago, then collapsed," Stoh said, "but I don't see us doing that this year. These kids have to much pride in what they're doing. I'm looking for a banner year."

Lifting them to that banner year are pitchers such as Dave Blevins, Rick Dybicki and Dave Bergman who have been impeccable during the early phase of the campaign.

Blevins, a right-handed junior, struck out three, walked two and scattered five hits en route to a 10-3 victory over Willow Run. The Romulus hurler helped his own cause with a grand slam homer in the third inning, chasing in Tony Yandura, Dave Bergman and Rex Boatright.

Earlier, Romulus' Jeff Barks twirled a seven-hitter in a 9-5 victory over Dundee. Barks received some relief help from Yandura who finished up the final 3¹/₃ innings of the game.

Dundee tied the game at 3-all in the top of third inning but a six-run Romulus outburst in the bottom of the fourth gave the

Belleville edges Wayne for first victory

Although Belleville and Wayne Memorial each collected six hits, Belleville made it count and won its first Wolverine A Conference baseball contest, 4-1, at the expense of Coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras.

"This is our first victory in this new league and it was a big one for us," said Belleville coach Tom Fielder. The win evened up the Tigers' conference record at 1-1, however, Wayne is still pursuing its first victory.

Ron Thomas came on in the seventh in relief of Belleville starter, Steve Else, to preserve the decision. Else whiffed six and walked four and got into trouble in the last frame when he issued three consecutive bases on balls after giving up a single.

In that crucial inning, Mike Delozier led off for Wayne with a single, then Else walked Paul Cavanaugh, Chris Kaskey and Cameron Mitchell, forcing in one run.

That's when Coach Fielder decided to go to his relievers and picked out Thomas who struck out the Zebras' leadoff man, Tom Zerona, and forced Dave Reynolds to hit back to the mound. The play resulted in a double play, ending the game.

"Thomas did a superb job in relief," Fielder said. "I was worried there for a moment."

Belleville tilted the scoreboard in its favor in the third when Mike Tansey led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Bob Courter and scored on Randy LeMasters' two-bagger.

The Tigers also put three runs on the board in the fourth with one-away as Bob Else singled, moved to second when Glenn Arquette was hit by a

Redford Union blasts Rockets

The wind blowing across the field at the John Glenn High School Sports Complex last Monday afternoon was not only a bitter wind for the few fans who braved the cold, but it turned out to be just as bitter for the Rockets baseball squad.

The Rockets entered the contest at 3-1 and riding a three-game winning streak. At game's end, they dropped back to the locker room, victims of a four-run uprising by highly-touted Redford Union squad who parlayed 9 hits into a 5-3 Northwest Suburban League victory.

The first three innings certainly gave no indication of the number of hits that would spray around the field in the final four innings.

In fact, both starting pitchers — Gino Picano and Donn Wolfe of Redford Union and Glenn, respectively — allowed only one hit between them in those first three frames. That hit was by Redford Union leadoff man Dave Taylor who doubled with one out in the third. He reached third on a grounder to second but Wolfe struck out Keith Manus to end the threat.

Certainly, it looked like a game that would be decided by one run.

But Glenn decided to change those ideas in the fourth inning. Catcher Glenn Belcher singled to begin the inning against Picano, regarded by many observers to be the best pitcher in the NWSL. Then first baseman Dave Briski sacrificed Belcher to second and Brad Martin moved him to third on a grounder to second.

There were two outs and Picano was nearly home free. Or so he thought. Bob Kujawski hit an easy grounder to shortstop, who promptly threw it away at first. Belcher scored and the Rockets led, 1-0.

Bill Perdue and John Clemmons walked to load the bases, setting up Cass Simpson for his single that plated two runs and Glenn led, 3-0.

Wolfe cruised through the fifth with nary a hitch, but the sixth proved both his and the Rockets' undoing.

Keith Manus and Rich Williams powered back-to-back doubles for one run. Then Greg Dron walked and Marte knocked in the second Panther tally with a single.

It was at this point that Rocket Coach Norm Hoenes replaced Wolfe with fireballing sophomore Steve Irwin, in hopes of preserving that 3-2 lead.

Irwin held up part of that bargain by fanning the first man to face him, but he surrendered a single to Kevin Moore that scored two runs and the Panthers had a 4-3 lead.

RU added an insurance run in the seventh on an RBI triple by Harte. Panther relief pitcher Madison retired three of the four hitters he faced in the seventh, allowing only a harmless single by Bryce Billings.

The Rockets are now off for two weeks until April 30 when they resume action against Ypsilanti and May 1 at home against league rival Thurston.

The Junior Varsity Rockets continued their winning ways with a 6-1 triumph against the Panthers as Shawn Dunford pitched a complete game. The JV Rockets are now 4-0.

Romulus hottest team around

The Eagles put three more runs on the scoreboard in the sixth as Rich Dybicki, Bob Sloan and Terry McIntosh all singled. A pair of throwing errors and a sacrifice fly drove in the three runs.

In the seventh, Romulus wrapped up the game on three consecutive singles by Steve Thornsberry, Rex Boatright and Rick Dybicki.

Dave Berman, who worked four innings, notched three strikeouts, walked three, got the verdict in the nightcap. He needed some relief help from Tony Yandura.

Farmer, who went the first three innings, was tagged with the loss.

Romulus received outstanding efforts from Berman, Thornsberry, Dave Blevins, and Lowell Smith who collected two hits each in the victory.

The Eagles took a 1-0 lead in the opening inning and, after Cherry Hill put two runs on the scoreboard in the second frame, the Eagles came back and widened the gap with a 4-run second and made it 7-2 in the third inning.

In the Spartan second inning, Mark Leskovitz started the rally when he was safe on an error, then Sasseen singled and Rob Bryer also came through with a base hit. Farmer walked, loading the bases. When Yandura also issued a walk to Oster, forcing in a run, the Spartans had the lead, 2-1.

But Romulus erupted for those four second-inning runs to salt the game away.

Eagles setting baseball records

Eagles the first of two wins over their non-conference rivals.

Steve Thornsberry collected a pair of hits as did Dybicki, Boatright, and San Vernatt.

Blevins' third hit of the evening paved the way for a two-run seventh and a nailbiting 7-6 victory over Willow Run. In that seventh, Sloan had sacrificed, moving Blevins to second. Then Thornsberry latched on to a double, scoring the tying run and a "bloop" single off the bat of Sean Vernatt scored the tie-breaker.

Romulus also knocked off Erie Mason 3-2 behind Dybicki's 2-hitter then ripped Erie 18-7 in the nightcap as Barks, one of three pitchers used, got credit for the victory. In that lopsided decision, Terry McIntosh contributed a double and a pair of singles, while Bergman, Thornsberry, Dybicki, Sloan and Joe Atherton each had a pair of hits.

Cherry Hill wins meet

Larry Dixon and Ed Mulrooney each posted two victories to spark Cherry Hill's track squad past Riverside, 114-22 in a Tri-River meet.

Dixon, a senior, captured firsts in the mile and two-mile runs while Mulrooney won the quarter mile and was a member of the victorious two-mile relay contingent. Dixon, who placed sixth at the Huron Relays with a 4:35 clocking in the mile, remains undefeated in the mile during dual meet competition.

Leright's

Popular establishment gets massive facelift

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Managing Editor

One of the area's most popular restaurants for nearly 30 years has undergone a $170,000 facelift. Diners at Leright's, 626 S. Wayne Road in Westland, now can enjoy a meal in a beautifully redecorated dining room that seats 95. For large parties, a banquet room (capacity 180) fills the need quite nicely. Despite the massive exterior and interior facade changes, one important factor remains the same — the influence and skills of owner Jim Leright. Leright learned the restaurant and catering business from his parents, the late Lee and Alma Leright, now 77, who operated the Old Village Coffee Shop in Wayne during the early 40's. In 1955 he opened a fast food restaurant on Wayne Road between Chestnut and Elm, a small establishment with 14 stools. Leright moved into his present location in July of 1966 and since that time has proceeded to develop the restaurant into a culinary institution of sorts. Open from 7 a.m. until midnight seven days a week (closed Christmas and Thansgiving), Leright's continually attracts a steady clientele throughout the year. The specialty of the house is the broasted chicken, although the breakfast omelettes and bar-bequed ribs, offered for $5.99 on Saturday nights, also draw raves. A complete menu features salads, hot and cold sandwiches, breakfast entrees, steaks and chops, seafoods and homemade desserts. Cocktails also are available as well as special offerings for children and weight watchers. Luncheon specials are priced in the $3.50 range while dinner specials cost $3.89-$4.49 and include a number of selections. Fish and chips is standard fare on Friday nights for $3.99. "Competition is fierce nowadays," says Leright, reflecting on 30 years in the restaurant business. "Yet the customer wants the same thing today as back then ... service, a clean place, a little hospitality and moderate prices." A graduate of Wayne High, Leright is widely recognized throughout the area for the quality of his food and his friendly demeanor. His son, Tim, serves as general manager and even mom (Alma Leright) helps out one day a week.

"A lot of credit has to go to Tim (Leright)," the owner explains. "His energy has played a large part in our success." Leright also is quick to praise those who helped create the new Leright's. "Everyone who worked on this building did a great job," he says. "People like Grant Campbell and Izzy LeSuer helped us complete this project in three weeks, four days." In addition to its dining and banquet facilities, Leright's provides catering services for groups up to 180 persons. For further information, contact the restaurant at 728-3830.

A picturesque interior awaits diners at Leright's Restaurant in Westland. The popular establishment underwent a $170,000 improvement project earlier this year.

Leright opened his first restaurant in 1955 on Wayne Road between Chestnut and Elm. It was a fast food business with 14 stools.

Interview with QB Eric Hipple

Last week I had Eric Hipple on my Sports Talk radio show. This is how the interview went:

Question: Are you the No. 1 quarterback or is the job up for grabs between you and Gary Danielson?

Eric: I'm the starting quarterback. That's how it was during our vet mini camp that we had a couple of weeks ago, that's how it will be going into the season and I feel it'll be like that throughout the season.

Q: How do you feel now that the job is yours?

H: It's good for the confidence. It was tough for a couple of years back and forth and all that. I think I've got to the point now where I've got the maturity behind me and I know more or less what Monte Clark wants, so I'm ready to step up and be a little more aggressive.

Q: You're beginning your fifth year in the NFL. Football people like to say it takes five years to become a quality quarterback. Last season a rookie, Dan Marino of Miami, had a great year. Do you agree with that statement and what about Marino?

H: When I first broke in, I had that good Monday night game and a couple other top games and I thought I didn't agree with that. But all of a sudden the other teams get a handle on you and start structuring defenses for you and are ready for you. Now looking back on it I say yes. It takes not only time to understand exactly all the defenses they're throwing at you, but also time to gain maturity and to feel comfortable where you are. Then the leadership follows and all the intangibles fall into gear a little better. So I think that Marino will hit a slump next season and maybe the year after, but after a couple of years he'll be back at the top of the league again.

Q: You're in the option year of your contract this season. With all the money the U.S.F.L. is throwing around, like giving Steve Young a 40-million contract without him ever throwing a pass, are you thinking of switching leagues? Also with Panther Q.B. Bobby Hebert saying he wants 50 million and all that.

H: Young was just in the right place at the right time. The U.S.F.L. isn't going to be tossing that money around like that a lot. I think that Hebert is just talking loud. I think he knows he's a little bit out of line, but everyone's going to look out for their own tail. If someone walked up to me and offered me 50 million dollars, I'd be a fool not to take it.

If the money were to pop up like that, I would really consider switching leagues. No, I don't want to get out of the N.F.L. No, I don't want to leave the Detroit Lions. But if financial situations present itself then that's probably what would happen.

Q: How would you do in the U.S.F.L.?

H: That's hard to say, but look at the quarterbacks having good years in that league. They didn't play much in the N.F.L. I think if you take me or Dan Fouts or just about anyone from the N.F.L. we would do well primarily because you're not seeing the strong defenses as far as in the secondary and the complicated defenses that you do in the N.F.L.

Q: You have a new offensive coordinator this year in Bill Nelson, replacing Ted Marchibroda. How's he fitting in?

H: So far, I've had a few talks with him and he seems to be fitting in quite well. I think he'll fit right in with Monte's system, the way Monte wants to do things. Bill's philosophy is more throw the ball downfield and I think that fits in with the type of offense that we have. Billy Sims is a great runner. We can use him on the 1st down, second down, whatever it takes to gain three or four yards. We don't really have to throw for three or four yards.

If we want to put the ball up, we're going to go ahead and attack it and take it downfield for 15-20 yards. Nelson's more an aggressive coach, I think the way he gets after people, he's kind of like Tiger Johnson, who coaches the running backs.

He'll bark at you and get you going and get you motivated, whereas Ted was more laid back and was easy to work with, but didn't have the aggressive behavior that Nelson has.

Q: How is the offense going to change as far as run-pass percentage?

H: We did throw the ball quite a bit last season, we were close to 50-50. But I think we're going to be more effective in throwing and I think what we're going to raise up is the yards per completion. It was up a few years back and I think it will be up again because we'll throw the ball more downfield but I don't think we'll throw the ball more.

One thing we found after last season, on second and long, we almost always threw the ball. I think we're going to mix it up more. I know Bill Nelson wants to run the ball on second and long and try to get in a third and short situation. I think when we throw the ball, we'll be a bit more daring. We're going to put the offense on the attack more instead of sitting back and depending so much on the defense.

Q: What about Sims. Couldn't he be used more as a long range threat?

H: I think Billy is a good long range receiver and he's proved it in the past. But, maybe in the last couple of years our philosophy was a little different in that we were trying to get the ball to Billy Short and let him run with it. Well, now that philosophy is going to change a little bit. With Nelson here, we're going to be throwing downfield a little more. We're going to use Billy to try to beat the coverage and also get him down the middle more. So I think you'll see Billy being utilized same as a downfield receiver.

Q: Last season the Lions won the division. Can they repeat?

H: I think we can, we've got the talent to. Chicago is going to be a tough team. Green Bay was a mystery last season and it'll be interesting to see how they'll do under their new coach. I always felt we had more talent than Minnesota but they always beat us. Now that Bud Grant is gone, maybe that magic will disappear. They'll miss him. We do have a real tough schedule this season but we have the talent to repeat.

Listen to Ron Cameron Monday through Friday from 4-5 p.m. on Sports Talk on W.C.A.R. 1090 AM. Also Ron does his show every Saturday from 7-8 p.m. at Tom's Tavern on Michigan Avenue between Merriman and Venoy in Wayne. Stop by and talk to Ron Cameron and special sports guests.

Beach time again

ANNETTE
"Beach Party"
"Muscle Beach Party"
(Rhino)

Chances are, that when asked what the main appeal of the Frankie Avalon/Annette Funicello beach movies was, nine out of 10 people will reply "Annette's great lungs." Guys, anyway, will usually say that.

And it's true. Despite the constraining one-piece bathing suits of the early 60's, Annette's lungs sure made movies like "Muscle Beach Party" and "Beach Party" worthwhile.

Yep, that girl sure could sing ... which is, of course, what I've been talking about, lest any of you thought there was a different subject (or subjects) at hand. So to speak.

And now, these two albums — long out of print and pulling in large sums of cash from collectors — are available to those of us who grew up with the happy-go-lucky gang on the beach. They may not be great, but neither were the films they're from. They are, however, FUN to listen to, in the same, innocent way the movies were to watch.

Songs from the two albums include dare-to-dance numbers such as the title songs, "Secret Surfin' Spot" and "Swingin' and Surfin'". "Also, there's a lot of less subtle tongue-in-cheek material like "Treat Him Right" and "Promise Me Anything."

You also get Annette's, uh, version of the classic rock tune "California Sun." And of course lots of numbers with monickers like "Surfin' Luau," "Pineapple Princess" and "The Scrambled Egg-head."

Teens of today may be amazed to learn that Funicello, who now sells peanut butter on television, once sold surf, sand, song and very, very sedate sex. So put on these records, close your eyes and make believe its 1963 again.

'Loot' set for stage

"Loot" will be performed by the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford at 8 p.m. April 27-28, and May 4-5, 10-11-12 at the Guild Playhouse, 15138 Beech Daly, Redford.

Written by Joe Orton, "Loot" tells the story of a young robber who dumps his mother's corpse from a coffin into a closet so that he and his accomplice can use the coffin to hide stolen money. The comedy attacks various sacred institutions, including the church and the police.

Tickets, priced at $5, can be obtained by calling 522-8057. Reservations are recommended.

Industry choir sings

"Industry Sings," an annual choral event featuring the Gentlemen Songsters, the General Motors Chorus, the Detroit Edison Glee Club, the Ford Chorus and the Advanced Medical & Research Center Choral, will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Ford Auditorium.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling 532-1231.

The thought provoking drama "Inherit the Wind" will be staged by the Huron Civic Theatre at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday in the Huron High School auditorium, 32044 Huron River Drive, located across from Michigan Memorial Park. Theresa Kromis (above) of New Boston will portray the role of Rachel Brown. Ticket information can be obtained by calling Joanne Elliott at 782-9024.

NOBODY! SPENDS MORE — ON THEIR USED CARS THAN WE DO.

And we want you to know that we won't sell any used car that the BOSS himself would not drive. We spend more money to make sure that everything on the used car is 'road ready'. We don't just fix the obvious things, like chipped paint or bald tires . . . we look for things that might to wrong in the future.
